Section 5 of article VI of said constitution is hereby amended to read as follows:

Sec. 5. The superior courts shall have original jurisdiction in all civil cases and proceedings (except as in this article otherwise provided, and except, also cases and proceedings in which jurisdiction is or shall be given by law to municipal or to justices or other inferior courts); in all criminal cases amounting to felony, and cases of misdemeanor not otherwise provided for; and of all such special cases and proceedings as are not otherwise provided for; and said court shall have the power of naturalization and to issue papers therefor.

The superior courts shall have appellate jurisdiction in such cases arising in municipal and in justices' and other inferior courts in their respective counties or cities and counties as may be prescribed by law. The Legislature may, in addition to any other appellate jurisdiction of the superior courts, also provide for the establishment of appellate departments of the superior court in any county or city and county wherein any municipal court is established, and for the constitution, regulation, jurisdiction, government and procedure of such appellate department. The process of any municipal court shall extend to all parts of the county or city and county in which the city is situated where such court is established, and to such other parts of the State as may be provided by law, and such process may be executed or enforced in such manner as the Legislature shall provide.

Upon stipulation of the parties litigant or their attorneys of record a cause in the superior court or in a municipal court may be tried by a judge pro tempore who must be a member of the bar sworn to try the cause, and who shall be empowered to act in such capacity in the cause tried before him until the final determination thereof. The selection of such judge pro tempore shall be subject to the approval and order of the court in which said cause is pending and shall also be subject to such regulations and orders as may be prescribed by the judicial council.

COMMUNICATIONS.

The following communications were received, and on motion of Senator Jones, H. C., ordered printed in the Journal:

THE JUDICIAL COUNCIL OF THE STATE OF CALIFORNIA,

STATE BUILDING, SAN FRANCISCO, April 16, 1927.

Hon. C. C. Young,

Governor of the State of California.
Sacramento, California.

DEAR GOVERNOR YOUNG: In compliance with your request made to the members of the Judicial Council at the conference held in your office in Sacramento on last Thursday, there is handed you herewith a comprehensive report and analysis of the problems presented by the desire manifested for the appointment of additional judges of the superior court in several of the counties of the State.

The substance of this report, which is reflected in the findings of the Judicial Council on the subject, is that while the creation of some additional judgeships has been advocated, the Council is of the opinion that at this time but eight should be provided for as follows:

San Diego County: One additional judgeship, with continued assistance from the Judicial Council. Two were asked for.

Alameda County: One additional judgeship, with the assistance of the Judicial Council continued as at present. Two were originally asked for, but the judges in that county desire to cooperate further with the Council.

San Bernardino County: One additional judgeship, with the assistance of the Judicial Council if deemed necessary.

Los Angeles County: Five additional judgeships and mobilization of all the available man power from other counties to sit in extra sessions under the direction of the Chairman of the Judicial Council. In this county various requests were made and every process of analysis which the Council could apply to the judicial business in the superior court, indicates that to completely dispose of the question some seventeen additional judges should be provided for, but for reasons more fully appearing in the special report accompanying this communication, it is deemed unwise to attempt to solve the problem in its entirety by appointing additional judgeships at this time.

The sum total of additional judges to be created, therefore, in the opinion of the Council, is eight, to wit: San Diego one, Alameda one, San Bernardino one and Los Angeles five.

The conditions in Santa Barbara County, as noted in the report, do not in the estimation of the Council, warrant the creation of an additional judgeship at this time.

Very sincerely yours,
(Signed)

WILLIAM H. WASTE,
Chief Justice and ex officio Chairman.

SPECIAL REPORT RESPECTING THE INCREASE IN THE NUMBER OF JUDGES OF THE SUPERIOR COURT.

THE JUDICIAL COUNCIL OF THE STATE OF CALIFORNIA.

STATE BUILDING, SAN FRANCISCO, April 16, 1927.

To His Excellency U. C. Young,
Governor of California.

As a result of the conference held on the fourteenth instant, there is herewith submitted on the behalf of the Judicial Council the following matters for your consideration:

The congestion of the trial calendars in the superior court being one of the principal grievances which brought about the adoption of the constitutional amendment under which the Council was created, our principal attention up to the present time has been devoted to a consideration of the condition of judicial business in that court. To that end a survey was made, which will be found set forth as a part of the Council's first report. In addition, further statistical data have been gathered respecting conditions existing in the counties hereinafter named, during the first three months of the present year as compared with the corresponding period a year ago.

The information thus gathered has been the subject of considerable thought and discussion among the members of the Council. Recently requests have been made that a hearing be granted to representatives of various counties requesting an increase in the number of judges for those localities. Accordingly, in deference thereto, a meeting of the Council was held in Sacramento on April 14. Upon that occasion representatives on behalf of the counties of Santa Barbara, San Diego, San Bernardino and Los Angeles presented the views of the citizens of those counties. The situation with respect to Alameda County had previously been discussed and was well known to all the members of the Council.

In its first report the Council has presented a survey of the condition of judicial business in the superior court. This survey discloses among other things, the following statistical data:

During the fiscal year ending June 30, 1926, the total number of cases of all kinds filed in the superior court throughout the State amounted to 133,918. Of these, 1182, or less than 1 per cent, originated in Santa Barbara County; 4969, or nearly 4 per cent, in San Diego County; 2481, or nearly 2 per cent, in San Bernardino County; 10,600, or approximately 8 per cent, in Alameda County; 1473, or slightly over 1 per cent, in Sonoma County, while there were 55,071, or approximately 41 per cent, filed in Los Angeles County. The number of superior court judges throughout the State now total 132.

SANTA BARBARA COUNTY.

Among the residents of Santa Barbara County there is disclosed a decided difference of opinion upon this subject. Particularly is this noticeable among those who claim to speak for the business interests and the bar on the one hand, and those who claim to represent the farmers on the other hand. Likewise, while Assemblyman Finley of that county insists that an additional judge is needed, Senator Hollister formerly held to the contrary view but now leaves the matter to the Judicial Council. Judge Crow of that county, has declined to express any opinion upon the matter.

The position of the Council is that the safe and likewise sound method of analyzing the condition of judicial business in any county, is to determine the relation between the volume of judicial business in that county and the gross amount filed throughout the State. Viewed from that standpoint, it would follow that since Santa Barbara County has less than nine-tenths of one per cent of such business, the percentage of judicial man-power to which it would be entitled out of the total number of 132, would be one judge elected from the county, and also the assistance of another judge assigned from time to time. Furthermore, it will be observed that of the total number of criminal cases tried throughout the State—which cases represent the bulk of contested litigation requiring immediate hearing—only about 7 per cent was disposed of in Santa Barbara County.

SAN DIEGO COUNTY.

The bill pending at this time calls for two additional judges for San Diego County. As previously pointed out, nearly 4 per cent of all the litigation filed in the State during the last fiscal year, was instituted in that county. Its proper proportion of judges on that basis would accordingly be five. While it is true that there were 111 more suits of all kinds filed during the first three months of the present year than during the corresponding period a year ago, there was a reduction to the extent of 27 in the number of criminal proceedings filed. Likewise, while it is reported that there are 2881 civil actions that have not yet been tried, it is to be remembered that one of the judges of that court has been engaged in the trial of certain water litigation for approximately the last five months. Likewise, it cannot be determined at this time that all of these cases will go to trial. In any event, the problem should be reviewed from the standpoint of its relation to the judicial man-power of the entire State.

SAN BERNARDINO COUNTY.

While, as already noted, the total volume of judicial business in San Bernardino County is nearly 2 per cent of that for the entire State, which would warrant the services of three judges most of the time, there is also to be observed the fact that more than 3 per cent of the total number of criminal cases tried in the State are disposed of in that county. Bearing in mind that this latter type of litigation can not be deferred, it would follow that the regular panel for that county should comprise three judges.

ALAMEDA COUNTY.

From what has already been pointed out, it would appear that Alameda County's proportion of the total amount of litigation would warrant ten judges for that county. However, for the past year and one half the eight judges of that county, together with the assistance of one additional judge assigned there, have been able to keep its civil trial calendar set not more than four months in advance. While it is true there has been reported an increase of 546 cases of all kinds filed during the first quarter of the present year, as compared with the corresponding period a year ago, the judges of that county have indicated a willingness to experiment for the next two years on the basis of nine regular judges, together with such additional assistance as the Chairman of the Council may from time to time be able to provide. Thus the present man-power of the court, to wit, nine judges, will be assured through legislation creating one additional judge for that county.

SONOMA COUNTY.

Viewed from the standpoint of the proportionate amount of litigation, to wit, slightly over 1 per cent, it would appear that Sonoma County has not sufficient judicial business to keep two judges constantly occupied. Furthermore, so far as criminal proceedings are concerned, that county during the last year disposed only of approximately 7 per cent of the contested criminal cases. In any event, the recommendation reported to have been made by the grand jury of that county for a third judge, cannot be justified.

LOS ANGELES COUNTY.

It is here that the most serious condition is presented. As already noted, if we were to analyze its problem from the standpoint of the proportionate amount of litigation filed in Los Angeles County as compared with that for the entire State, it would mean 41 per cent of the judicial man-power of the superior court, or in other words, 54 judges. On the other hand, it is estimated that approximately one-third of the population of the State is to be found in that county. On that basis, the court there should have 44 judges. The same ratio would hold true if the matter were regarded from the standpoint of the value of assessed property in Los Angeles County as compared with the entire State. Looking at the matter from another angle, namely, taking Alameda County as a standard and on the basis of nine judges for the latter and bearing in mind that the total volume of litigation in Los Angeles County is five and one-half times as great, it would follow that the superior court in Los Angeles County should consist of at least 49 judges.

In a communication received from the secretary of the superior court of that county, it was reported that during November and December of last year a number of cases trailed from day to day for as long a period as 18 court days before getting to trial, and that many cases trailed anywhere from three to eight days. With the exception of criminal cases and injunctions and similar classes of law suits, ordinary civil cases are being set for trial 15 months in advance. Injunction, condemnation and other emergency litigation is being set for trial four months in advance. During the month of March of the present year, there was not a day when the court was able to hear all of the cases ready for trial and the number of such cases which could not be heard ranged from six to as high as 26, the average being more than 14. This was the situation in spite of the fact that during the month of February there was a net increase of five judges over and above the regular panel of 28, and during the month of March a net increase of approximately six. This assistance, of course, was rendered through the assignment of judges by the Chairman of the Judicial Council. During the current month there has been a net increase of nine judges with the result that the court is now almost able to handle its daily calendar.

Assuming that a total of 37 judges presided in that court, it would still mean that ordinary civil cases would have to be set for trial 15 months in advance. In this connection, it should also be noted that there were 204 more proceedings of all kinds filed during the current quarter than during the first three months of last year. This increase, however, has followed in spite of the fact that the municipal courts of Los Angeles and Long Beach receive approximately 10,000 civil cases annually, where the amount involved ranges from $300 to $1,000, and which litigation but for those courts, would clog the calendar of the superior court still further.

Assuming, therefore, that with a net increase of nine judges that court would be able to avoid getting further behind, and if no change is brought about in the jurisdiction of that court and no substantial improvement is accomplished in practice and procedure toward expediting the handling of judicial business, it must be obvious that no matter what method of calculation is adopted, that court will require from 40 to 45 judges if any appreciable reduction is to be made in the volume of cases now accumulated on the trial calendar. Before any such extraordinary step is taken it would appear to be the part of wisdom, as well as more consistent with the principle upon which the Judicial Council has been established, that research be carried on for the next two years in order to determine whether any other solution can be found than simply increasing the amount of man-power of that court. Under the circumstances outlined, the safe course for the present would be to recommend the adoption of Senate Bill No. 269 which provides for an increase of five judges to that court. This would mean that as many additional judges should be assigned to assist in relieving present conditions, as can possibly be spared.

Finally, it is to be noted that thus far no provision has been made for the assignment of judges to assist either the Supreme Court or the district courts of appeal. By referring to the report of the Council it will be discovered that in December of last year 1,358 appeals were pending in the Supreme Court which had not yet reached the calendar for argument. In addition, there were at the same time 489 appeals pending in the District Court of Appeal for the Second District. It is significant that in this same district are located among others, the counties of Los Angeles, San Diego, San Bernardino and Santa Barbara. It has been estimated that in the appellate courts an average of not quite 50 opinions are written yearly by each judge. On that basis it would take about 30 judges in addition to the present membership of the appellate court to clear the present calendar and thus bring these courts up to within one year of their work.

In the light of the foregoing, the recommendations heretofore enumerated, to wit, one additional judge to each of the counties of San Diego, San Bernardino and Alameda, and five additional judges to Los Angeles County must be deemed exceedingly conservative. That the respective increases for these counties are necessary and indeed imperative, there is no doubt among the members of the Council.

Respectfully submitted.

THE JUDICIAL COUNCIL OF THE STATE OF CALIFORNIA.

(Signed) WILLIAM H. WASTE,
Chief Justice and ex officio Chairman.

Clerk of the Supreme Court and Secretary of the Judicial Council.

Such additional compensation shall be paid out of a special fund created for such purpose in the following manner;

In all cases where an injury causes death of a person who leaves no dependents but for which death compensation would have been payable under the workmen's compensation insurance and safety act of 1917, as amended, if said employee had left dependents, the employer shall pay into said treasury the sum of five hundred dollars for each such death in addition to any other payment due under said act, provided that the entire payment on account of such injury, including said five hundred dollars, shall not exceed the maximum payments provided by said act. The said treasurer shall be the custodian of this special fund and the commission shall direct the distribution thereof in accordance herewith. The controller is hereby ordered to draw his warrant on said fund from time to time in accordance with the direction of the commission and the treasurer is hereby authorized and directed to pay the same.

proceedings shall be tried and determined in the same manner and with the same effect as any other proceeding to collect compensation; provided, that if any proceeding pending before the commission it shall appear that the conditions exist under which said sum of five hundred dollars is payable into said fund, the commission may enter its order and award directing the payment thereof without further proceeding; and provided further, that if said sum of five hundred dollars shall be paid into the state fund and at any time thereafter any person claiming to be a dependent of said deceased employee shall establish such dependency by award, the commission may direct said sum of five hundred dollars to be paid out of said fund, or as much thereof as may be necessary, to be paid to said dependent upon the liability of the employer.

10½. In all cases in which, following a previous disability, an employee receives an injury which is not covered by (10) of this subdivision, the employer shall provide compensation for the disability caused by the subsequent injury, as if no prior disability had been suffered. In determining compensation for the subsequent injury or for death resulting therefrom, the average weekly wages shall be such sum as will reasonably represent the earning capacity of the employee at the time of the second injury.

If the above granted jurisdiction to the industrial accident commission is held unconstitutional, the powers herein conferred upon the industrial accident commission to award the payment of said sum of five hundred dollars into said fund shall devolve upon and be exercised by the superior court of the county in which said injury may be sustained. Provided, that any such matter may also be determined in the superior court of Sacramento county.

Resolved by the Assembly, the Senate concurring. That the Legislature of the State of California, at its forty-seventh regular session, commencing on the third day of January, 1927, two-thirds of all the members elected to each of the two houses voting in favor thereof, hereby proposes to the people of the State of California that section 14 of article I of the constitution be amended to read as follows:

Sec. 14. Private property shall not be taken or damaged for public use without just compensation having first been made to, or paid into court for, the owner, and no right of way shall be appropriated to the use of any corporation, except a municipal corporation or a county or the State until full compensation therefor be first made in money or ascertained and paid into court for the owner, irrespective of any benefits from any improvement proposed by such corporation, which compensation shall be ascertained by a jury, unless a jury be waived, as in other civil cases in a court of record, as shall be prescribed by law; provided, that in an action in eminent domain brought by the State, or a county, or a municipal corporation, or a drainage, irrigation, levee, or reclamation district, the aforesaid State or political subdivision thereof or district may take immediate possession and use of any right of way required for a public use whether the fee thereof or an easement therefor be sought upon first commencing eminent domain proceedings according to law in a court of competent jurisdiction and thereupon giving such security in the way of money deposited as the court in which such proceedings are pending may direct, and in such amounts as the court may determine to be reasonably adequate to secure to the owner of the property sought to be taken immediate payment of just compensation for such taking and any damage incident thereto, including damages sustained by reason of an adjudication that there is no necessity for taking the property, as soon as the same can be ascertained according to law. The court may, upon motion of any party to said eminent domain proceedings, after such notice to the other parties as the court may prescribe, alter the amount of such security so required in such proceedings. The taking of private property for a railroad run by steam or electric power for logging or lumbering purposes shall be deemed a taking for a public use, and any person, firm, company or corporation taking private property under the law of eminent domain for such purposes shall thereupon and thereby become a common carrier.

MESSAGES FROM THE GOVERNOR.

The following messages from the Governor were received and read:

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT, STATE OF CALIFORNIA,

April 20, 1927.

To the Senate of the State of California.

Senate Bill No. 469 is herewith returned without my approval.

This bill was intended to clarify an ambiguity in the language of section 1721 of the Political Code relating to high school districts. This section now provides that a union high school district should be "composed of two or more high school districts", although it is plain that it was intended to read "two or more elementary school districts."

This error was corrected in the present bill, but unfortunately at the end of the section another careless error occurs as bad as the one the bill was designed to cure. It is stated that "any city school district * * * maintained as a high school within such district shall be deemed to be and constitute a city high school district". This, of course, is meaningless.

It is obvious that nothing would be gained by correcting a portion of a code section, and in so doing render meaningless another portion of the same section. For this reason I have withheld approval of the bill.

Respectfully submitted.

C. C. YOUNG, Governor.

Also:

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT, STATE OF CALIFORNIA,

April 20, 1927.

To the Senate of the State of California.

Senate Bill No. 558 is herewith returned without my approval.

It is proposed by this bill to permit the State Forester to designate hazardous fire areas and to prepare rules and regulations relative to the use of fires within such areas. A violation of any of the State Forester's rules and regulations is made a misdemeanor punishable by fine or imprisonment or by both such fine and imprisonment.

I am advised that under the authority of In re McLain, 190 Cal. 376, and other cases decided by the Supreme Court of this State, any attempt to confer such powers upon the State Forester constitutes an unwarranted and unconstitutional delegation of the power of the Legislature. In other words, the State Forester under this bill could make certain rules applicable to certain territory which he would designate, and any violation of these rules would be a crime. Although I am heartily in favor of all appropriate legislation designed to assist in fire prevention and the preservation of our forests, I nevertheless feel that approval of this bill should be withheld on account of this unwarranted and dangerous delegation of power—a delegation which is clearly unconstitutional.

Respectfully submitted.

C. C. YOUNG, Governor.

REPORT.

The following report was received, and on motion of Senator Breed ordered printed in the Journal:

REPORT OF COLORADO RIVER COMMITTEE.

To the Governor and the Legislature of the State of California.

The Legislature at the forty-sixth session adopted Senate Joint Resolution No. 28, providing for the appointment of a legislative committee to treat with representatives of the states of the lower Colorado River Basin for the purpose of adjusting, if possible, the conflicting claims of these states in and to the waters of the Colorado River. The undersigned were appointed to represent the State of California. Thereafter the Governor of California arranged with the governors of the other interested states for a meeting of the respective representatives, to be held at Phoenix. This meeting and numerous others were held both at Phoenix and at Los Angeles. At such meetings, Arizona, Nevada and California were represented by authorized committees.

At no time was there any substantial conflict between Nevada and California, but Arizona persisted in demands which we could not accede to. The principal points of contention between the representatives being as follows:

(a) Arizona's insistence that the Seven State Compact be amended so that all unallocated water of the Colorado River system, not actually apportioned by the compact, be allotted to the lower basin states for immediate division among such states.

(b) The present perfected water rights from the Colorado River in California amount to about 2,250,000 acre-feet per year. The present perfected rights from Arizona amount to less than 250,000 acre-feet of water per year. Arizona refused to recognize these perfected rights, but insisted that a division of the water should be made without regard to these rights.

(c) Arizona demanded an excessive proportion of the water available to the lower basin for division. She insisted upon all of the tributaries of the Colorado River within her state, which she estimated at 5,000,000 acre-feet of water per year, and in addition to that insisted upon one-half of the main stream, which means a division of water of the Colorado River system in the lower basin, of about two parts to Arizona and one part to California, notwithstanding the fact that the physical conditions are such that Arizona could use only a small part of the water she demanded and the water which she was willing to concede to California is not sufficient for the present known requirements.

(d) Arizona demanded the right and insisted that California and Nevada, as well as the national government, recognize in her the right to levy and collect revenue in the nature of a royalty or tax upon all hydroelectric power developed within her state upon government, as well as private, projects and based upon the fall of the Colorado River within Arizona. The amount of this tax or royalty which Arizona hopes to so exact was variously estimated by her commissioners to as high as $6 per horsepower per year, or an income from Boulder Canyon alone to the state of Arizona, of approximately $6,000,000 per year.

It is altogether probable that we would have been justified in making substantial concessions to Arizona in order to adjust the respective claims to water, and had the matter of controversy been limited solely to the allocation of water, we believe a tentative agreement might have been reached. Her representatives, however, persistently refused to make even a tentative agreement on water unless, as a part of the same agreement, we recognized and conceded her right to derive revenue as above stated and accede to her other demands.

We completed our duties at the close of last December, but recommend that negotiations continue, and that the Legislature so authorize. Pursuant to such authorization, another committee, composed of Mr. A. P. Davis, Mr. Earl C. Pound, Mr. James A. Anderson, Dr. S. S. M. Jennings and Colonel S. H. Findley, was appointed to carry on the work. Their efforts, too, have been without avail, and inasmuch as the resolution providing for their appointment required that they report back to this Legislature, their authority will likewise cease at the adjournment of this Legislature.

We believe it advisable, and recommend that the Legislature provide for the appointment of a permanent committee to carry on this work after adjournment, with the hope that a just and fair basis for complete adjustment of all conflicting claims between the lower basin states may be arrived at, and a just and fair compact entered into.

Respectfully submitted.

A. C. FINNEY.
WALTER J. LITTLE.
RALPH E. SWING.

MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR.

The following message from the Governor was received and read :

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT, STATE OF CALIFORNIA,

April 25, 1927.

To the Senate and the Assembly of the State of California.

An acute financial situation involving the Sacramento and San Joaquin Drainage District presents one of the most serious problems that any agricultural region of the State has ever faced. Most immediately concerned in solving this problem are the State Reclamation Board and the land owners within the district. However, there are certain phases of such a nature that some specific legislation is required to furnish even the possibility of a solution. The obvious fact that a district of this size can not meet financial disaster without affecting the prosperity of the whole State makes this a proper subject for legislative action.

This Sacramento and San Joaquin Drainage District has an indebtedness of approximately $16,000,000, represented by warrants issued by the State Controller upon order of the Reclamation Board. These warrants are obligations of the land owners and actually represent liens against most of the lands in the central Sacramento Valley. The debt bears interest at the rate of 7 per cent per annum, and this interest is now accumulating at the amazing pace of over $2,000 a day—more than $730,000 every year.

Although supposedly adequate machinery has been provided for levying and collecting these costs upon the land, as an actual fact no collections have ever been made, either of principal or of interest. A careful survey shows that the lien upon some of the lands for this obligation and for reclamation district purposes actually exceeds any "forced-sale" value of the land. Any effort to levy an immediate assessment for the total amount due would probably mean financial ruin to a substantial portion of central California. Existing legislation permitting the issuance of twenty-year bonds for the retirement of the warrants would necessitate in many cases larger annual collections than the land can possibly produce. It is manifest, therefore, that some prompt action must be taken to relieve this intolerable situation.

During the past four years no progress has been made by the land owners or warrant holders toward the settlement of this indebtedness, and no attempt has been made by the State to aid them to solve the problem. During this same four years the debt has grown by approximately $3,000,000 through the accumulation of interest alone. This neglect and lack of effort toward settlement during these four years is one of the prime factors that have produced the present serious problem for the inhabitants and land owners within the district, and for the people of the cities largely dependent upon these lands.

When the original flood control plan for the Sacramento, San Joaquin and Feather Rivers was outlined, it was given the name of the California Debris Commission Plan. Features of reclamation, flood control, and navigation were involved. It was suggested that the ultimate cost should be borne equally by the land owners, the State, and the federal government. Up to this date the land owners have paid no part, the State has invested or appropriated approximately $10,000,000, and the federal government approximately $7,000,000.

Legislation now being handed in Congress by the Honorable Charles F. Curry seeks to commit the federal government to the payment of one-third of the total cost. It is the intention of the present State administration to cooperate to the fullest extent in promoting this federal legislation. In the meantime the phases of the settlement which constitute the problem of the land owners must be worked out.

The outstanding warrants of the Reclamation Board are not an obligation of the State of California. They are an obligation on the land within the district. Many of the holders of these warrants, however, were led to believe that the warrants were an obligation of the State, and many of these holders were induced to pay practically full prices for them as an investment. But a large number of these warrants were acquired at a very considerable discount. In actual fact, the warrant holders are not financially secured, and unquestionably they realize this situation. Some of them have intimated their desire to cooperate in reaching an effective settlement by discounting the accrued value of their warrants.

Many of the land holdings are obligated for payments, the benefits of which have not yet reached the lands. Other land holdings are obligated so heavily that the twenty-year bond issue now permitted by law is impossible of payment within such a period of time. Project No. 6, of the Sacramento and San Joaquin Drainage District, is the area most drastically affected. Other projects within the district will doubtless be able to work themselves out without legislative aid. But Project No. 6, covering as it does approximately 500,000 acres of land, and lying within the confines of seven counties, has now become so involved, through lack of any constructive program in the past, that, unless something is done in the near future, the land holders within this project face certain financial ruin. A bond issue voted for a portion of the obligation of this project has proven absolutely unsalable.

The comfortable and easy thing for this administration to do would be to allow the problem to float through the coming four years just as has been done during the past four years, with no effort toward settlement. It would be easy to say that this is no affair of the present administration, since it is a condition not of our making. Thus during this four years we might permit the obligation to increase on the lands by $3,000,000 more for the interest alone, just as was done during the past four years; allow the warrants to further depreciate in value; let small investors holding unpaid warrants become financially ruined; permit the central Sacramento Valley to continue to lie under the cloud of impending disaster, its development stifled and strangled by an unfunded debt; and allow the farmer needing to secure new loans to be thwarted by the uncertainty of this existing lien and deprived of his land and his livelihood.

This may be the easy way, but it is not the right way. The problem must be faced squarely and unflinchingly. The steps necessary are staggering, even if the most effective help is afforded. The purposes which must be achieved are the following:

1. Relief to the land owners from the present uncertainty through an opportunity to pay the indebtedness as the productiveness of the land will permit.

2. Assurance to the warrant holders that an honest effort will be made to secure them against possibly complete financial loss.

3. Provision of a means whereby the land owners may be actually relieved of a part of the present increasing indebtedness.

4. Assistance to the land owners for the immediate future in meeting as much as possible of the annual burden for the maintenance of the project.

There seems only one way by which all this may be achieved: The present warrants with their high interest charges must be repurchased at satisfactory prices and refunded in low interest, long term bonds, which the land owner can amortize from his annual income, while the value of his land continues to grow through its future development.

Senate Bill No. 856 seeks to supply a basis for constructively commencing the solution of the problem. While this measure can not cure all the existing troubles, at least it will be helpful and its operation may possibly point the way to a stable and permanent plan.

In addition it seems necessary as a temporary emergency measure to undertake at State expense the maintenance of the works already constructed for flood control as distinct from reclamation. For this and for the administration of the project, special appropriations are recommended for your consideration in Senate Bill No. 217.

Respectfully submitted.

C. C. YOUNG, Governor.

Governor's message referred to Committee on Rules.

MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR.

The following message from the Governor was received and read:

STATE OF CALIFORNIA, GOVERNOR'S OFFICE,

SACRAMENTO, April 26, 1927.

DEAR MR. FITTS: May I trouble you once more to request each member of the Senate to send me promptly a full written explanation of whatever bills he expects to come down for executive consideration?

Please ask that the bills be explained on separate sheets of paper, in order that these comments upon them may be separately filed. I should also appreciate having handed in such communications from others regarding the bills as the members are willing to hand over to me. This request also extends to all bills in which any senator is interested, either for or against, as well as to his own measures.

Finally, and very emphatically, may I ask that these comments on bills be handed to me at once. I am sorry to say that the normal work of bill-signing is being slowed up during this week, owing to the fact that I have failed to receive these comments and explanations of the author.

Even as to the bills passed during the final day or two of the session, it will be very necessary that I may be able to file away the communications from their respective authors before they leave Sacramento.

In making this request, I would be remiss if I did not also ask you please to express to the members of the Senate my real appreciation for the cooperation they are already according me in this matter.

Yours very sincerely,

C. C. YOUNG, Governor.

MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR.

The following message from the Governor was received and read:

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT, STATE OF CALIFORNIA,

April 27, 1927.

To the Senate of the State of California.

Senate Bill No. 601 is herewith returned without my approval.

This bill provides that the legislative authority of any district, city, county, county or State is empowered to secure insurance protecting the officials of such district, city, county or State against liability for damage or injury to any person or property resulting from the defective condition of any street.

building, work or property; and provides further that the premium for this insurance shall be paid out of the general fund of such district, city, city and county, county or State.

Although this measure is only permissive, there can be little doubt that, if it were enacted into law, practically every one of the political subdivisions mentioned in the bill would promptly take out such insurance. It would be only natural that the legislative officials empowered by such an act to do this, would at once protect themselves and their fellow officials by taking advantage of the opportunity.

I think that none of us can make any accurate guess as to how expensive such a procedure might be. When we consider the thousands of officials who might be covered, it is clear that the cost for insurance premiums would run up into very many thousands of dollars each year. The political subdivisions of the State are now spared this expense, with very rare cases of harm suffered by public officials through personal liability damage.

Before embarking upon any such new enterprise, I believe that a careful survey should be made to determine accurately the need for this insurance, as well as the probable expense it would entail. Only by such a study can we be full assured that the necessities of the case would justify the expenditure.

I have discussed this matter with the author of the bill, and believe that he is now in substantial agreement with the point of view herein expressed. I am therefore withholding approval of this measure.

Respectfully submitted.

C. C. YOUNG, Governor.

Sec. 10. Where any oil or gas well is placed on commercial production, within three hundred feet of the ordinary line of any tide, overflowed or submerged land belonging to the state, the chairman of the state board of control, for and on behalf of the state, is hereby authorized to immediately lease such land for oil and gas development, when in the judgment of the board of control it is necessary to do so for the protection of the best interests of the state, for a period of not exceeding twenty years, in tracts not exceeding twenty acres in area in any one lease, covering state land so that offset wells only may be drilled thereon for oil or gas, to applicants therefor who shall apply for permits or leases from the state and whose reliability and general qualifications for carrying out the terms of such lease in the interests of the state shall be determined by the state board of control. All leases entered into under the terms of this section shall be conditioned upon the lessee complying with all reasonable conditions in the lease, made for the protection of adjacent beaches and other property from pollution and damage and for the best interests of the people of the state including a sufficient bond and forfeiture clause guaranteeing the payment of damages if any, from pollution of water and beaches or nuisance should any result from the drilling, production and handling of oil and gas wells and their products under this section and providing that such development and operations shall be under the supervision of the state oil and gas supervisor and further conditioned upon the lessee paying such bonus and royalty of not less than twelve and one-half per cent of the sale value of the oil and gas produced therefrom, determined by competitive bidding only, and as may be acceptable to the state board of control.

Immediately upon the taking effect of this amendment, any moneys received by the board, or any officer thereof, collected under or pursuant to the provisions of this section and now in the hands of the board or of any officer thereof, shall be accounted for to the controller and paid into the state treasury to be credited and disposed of in the manner herein indicated. The moneys deposited in the state treasury to the credit of the pilot commissioners' special fund are hereby appropriated without regard to fiscal years for the payment of the compensation and expenses of the board and of the officers and employees thereof.

In granting any such lease the littoral owner opposite the premises proposed to be leased shall have a preferential right to a lease of such part of said premises as said board of control may determine, which right must be exercised within a period of ten days after the opening of bids; provided, however, that no person, firm or corporation shall take or hold more than one such lease.

No such offset well shall be placed within a distance of one hundred fifty feet from the ordinary line of any tide, overflowed or submerged land belonging to the placed at a distance less than one hundred fifty feet from said line, in which case the offset well may be placed as near to said line as such well or wells on such littoral lands are placed.

SEC. 7. This act is hereby declared to be an urgency measure necessary for the immediate preservation of the public welfare, peace and safety within the meaning state, unless the well or wells on littoral lands adjoining the demised premises be of section 1 of article IV of the constitution of the State of California and as such shall take effect immediately.

The statement of facts constituting the necessity and urgency are as follows:

Intensive drilling operations are being conducted and rushed within a few feet of one of the boundaries of property of the State of California. Valuable quantities of oil and gas are being drawn from under lands from which the State should otherwise gain a large return and the decline of production has already commenced to show itself in neighboring wells, due to the closeness of the wells. The exhaustion of the gas pressure as well as oil contents of the formation underlying the land of the State is now going on and the safety of the property of the State is thereby endangered and property of the State consisting of oil and gas is being drained away and recovered by persons producing from neighboring lands which is against the public interest, welfare and safety of the property and interests of the state. If this act does not take effect immediately the State of California will be deprived of part of its property.

SEC. 8. All acts and parts of acts in conflict herewith are hereby repealed but nothing herein contained shall enlarge or detract from any rights initiated or acquired under the terms of the law as it existed prior to the passage of this act.

WHEREAS, Within the past two weeks the power and force of nature as exemplified in the great Mississippi River has demonstrated without question of doubt its supremacy over the feeble efforts of man; and

WHEREAS, That great force that has been used by men to assist in the upbuilding of a great empire has gone beyond the control of man and in the short space of a fortnight has devastated and rendered useless that which it has taken many years to build up; and

WHEREAS, Where there existed in the great Mississippi Valley—one of the garden spots of the world—happiness and contentment, there now exists ruin, desolation and extreme suffering, homes and farms destroyed, cities inundated, and families rendered destitute and helpless; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Senate of the State of California now in regular session at Sacramento, call upon the residents of this great State to render to our unfortunate fellow citizens of this great Nation such financial assistance as is within their power, it being recognized that because of the great distance in miles that we are incapable of rendering any other than financial assistance; and, be it further

Resolved, That we express our regret that our constitution prohibits us from making a direct donation from the State treasury, but that as individuals we will contribute our mite and express to the sufferers of the Mississippi Valley our hope that this disaster will not be of long duration, and we offer up our prayers for a speedy recovery, having faith in our people with proper assistance to overcome that and fully rehabilitate themselves, their homes and farms.

1203. After the conviction by plea or verdict of guilty of a public offense where discretion is conferred upon the court or any board or commission or other authority as to the extent of the punishment, the court or board or commission or other authority before judgment and sentence and except as hereinafter provided, may upon oral suggestion of either party or of its own motion when it appears that there are circumstances which may properly be taken into view either in aggravation or mitigation of the punishment, may in its discretion refer the same to the probation officer directing said probation officer to investigate and to report, recommending either for or against release upon probation at a specified time, and the court shall hear the same summarily at that specified time and upon such notice to the adverse party as it may direct. At such specified time if it shall appear from the report furnished by the probation officer or otherwise and from the circumstances, that any person over the age of eighteen years having either pleaded guilty or having been convicted of a public offense, that there are circumstances in mitigation of punishment or that the ends of justice shall be subserved thereby, the court may have power in its discretion to place the defendant upon probation as hereinafter provided; further provided, however, that nothing contained in this section shall apply to cases of murder, robbery, burglary, or rape by force and violence, where in the perpetration of such crimes a deadly weapon is used, or the person committing any of the said crimes was armed with a deadly weapon or where, in the perpetration of any such crimes, great bodily injury or torture is inflicted, nor to any person who has been previously convicted of any of said offenses, nor where a public official or employee of the state, county, city, city and county, or other political subdivision thereof in the discharge of the duties of his public office or employment accepts or gives or offers to accept or give a bribe or embezzles public moneys or is guilty of extortion in the discharge of his official duty.

(a) The court, judge or justice thereof, may suspend the imposing, or the execution of sentence and may direct that such suspension may continue for such period of time not exceeding the maximum possible term of such sentence, except as hereinafter set forth, and upon such terms and conditions as it shall determine, which terms and conditions may include, in the discretion of the court, the requirements of bonds for the appearance of the person released upon probation before the court, at any time that the court may require such appearance in the investigation of any alleged violation of said terms and conditions of probation and such bonds may be at any time by the court exonerated without affecting any of the other terms and conditions of such probation; and in the case of such suspension of imposition or execution of sentence, the court shall place such person on probation and under the charge and supervision of the probation officer of said court during such suspension; provided, however, that where the maximum possible term of such sentence is less than two years, then such period of suspension of imposition or execution of sentence may, in the discretion of the court, continue for not over two years. Where the offense consists of a violation of section 270 or 270a of the Penal Code of the State of California, such suspension of imposition or execution of sentence may, in the discretion of the court, continue for not over five years.

(b) If the judgment is to pay a fine, and the defendant be imprisoned until it be paid, the court, judge or justice upon imposing sentence, may direct that the execution of the sentence of imprisonment be suspended for such period of time, not exceeding the maximum possible term of such sentence and on such terms as it shall determine, and shall place the defendant on probation, under the charge and supervision of the probation officer during such suspension, to the end that he may be given the opportunity to pay the fine; provided, however, that upon the payment of the fine being made, judgment shall be satisfied and the probation cease.

(c) At any time during the probationary term of the person released on probation, in accordance with the provisions of this section, any probation officer may, without warrant, or other process, at any time until the final disposition of the case, rearrest any person so placed in his care and bring him before the court, or the court may, in its discretion, issue a warrant for the rearrest of any such person and may thereupon revoke and terminate such probation, if the interest of justice so requires, and if the court, in its judgment, shall have reason to believe from the report of the probation officer, or otherwise, that the person so placed upon probation is violating the conditions of his probation, or engaging in criminal practices, or has become abandoned to improper associates, or a vicious life. Upon such revocation and termination, the court may, if the sentence has been suspended, pronounce judgment after the said suspension of the sentence for any time within the longest period for which the defendant might have been sentenced but if the judgment has been pronounced and the execution thereof has been suspended, the court may revoke such suspension, whereupon the judgment shall be in full force and effect, and the person shall be delivered over to the proper officer to serve his sentence.

(d) The court shall have power at any time during the term of probation to revoke or modify its order of suspension of imposition or execution of sentence. It may, at any time when the ends of justice will be subserved thereby, and when the good conduct and reform of the person so held on probation shall warrant it, terminate the period of probation and discharge the person so held, but no such order shall be made without written notice first given by the court or the clerk thereof to the proper probation officer of the intention to revoke or modify its order, and in all cases, if the court has not seen fit to revoke the order of probation and impose sentence or pronounce judgment, the defendant shall, at the end of the term of probation, be by the court discharged.

(e) Every defendant who has fulfilled the conditions of his probation for the entire period thereof, or who shall have been discharged from probation prior to the termination of the period thereof, shall at any time prior to the expiration of the maximum period of punishment for the offense of which he has been convicted, dating from said discharge from probation of said termination of said period of probation, be permitted by the court to withdraw his plea of guilty and enter a plea of not guilty; or if he has been convicted after a plea of not guilty, the court shall set aside the verdict of guilty; and in either case the court shall thereupon dismiss the accusation or information against such defendant, who shall thereafter be released from all penalties and disabilities resulting from the offense or crime of which he has been convicted.

(f) The offices of adult probation officer, assistant adult probation officer, and deputy adult probation officer are hereby created; provided, that except as hereinafter specified the probation officers, assistant probation officers and deputy probation officers appointed under an act known as the juvenile court law and entitled "An act to be known as the juvenile court law, and concerning persons under the age of twenty-one years; and in certain cases providing for their care, custody and maintenance; providing for the probationary treatment of such persons, and for the commitment of such persons to the Whittier State School and the Preston School of Industry, the California School for Girls and other institutions; establishing probation officers and a probation committee to deal with such persons and fixing the salary thereof; providing for the establishment of detention homes for such persons; fixing the method of procedure and treatment or commitment where crimes have been committed by such persons; providing for the punishment of those guilty of offenses with reference to such persons, and defining such crimes; and repealing the juvenile court law approved March 8, 1909, as amended by an act approved April 5, 1911, and as amended by an act approved June 16, 1913, and all amendments thereof and all acts or parts of acts inconsistent herewith," approved June 5, 1915, or under any laws amending or superseding the same shall be ex officio adult probation officers, assistant adult probation officers and deputy adult probation officers respectively except in the case of offenses committed in any city and county and also in those counties not operating under a freeholder's charter, and having a population of more than three hundred thousand, as the same is determined by the federal census taken in the year A. D. 1920, in which counties and cities and counties the adult probation officers, assistant and deputy adult probation officers, appointed under subdivision (g) of this section shall serve under this act; provided, however, that in all cases of offenses defined by section 21 of said act, known as the juvenile court law, and by section 270 of the Penal Code, the same probation officers, assistants and deputies shall serve under this act as are appointed under said juvenile court law.

The members of such adult probation board shall hold office for four years, and until their successors are appointed and qualify; provided, that of those first appointed one shall hold office for one year, two for two years, two for three years and two for four years, the terms for which the respective members shall hold office to be determined by lot as soon after their appointment as may be. When any vacancy occurs in any probation board by expiration of the term of office of any member thereof, the successor shall be appointed to hold office for the term of four years. When any vacancy occurs for any other reason the appointee shall hold office for the unexpired term of his predecessor. Any member of the probation board may be removed for cause at any time by an affirmative vote of four members of said board at a meeting called for the special purpose of considering the question of said removal and the subsequent written approval of a majority of the said judges designated for the hearing and disposition of criminal cases and proceedings, said written approval to be filed with the clerk of the court within thirty days after the written report of the said board has been received by said judges. Written notice as to said special meeting shall be served on each of the members of said board at least ten days prior to the date set therefor and shall specify the purpose thereof.

It shall be the duty of such adult probation board to exercise a friendly supervision of probationers when so directed by the court to furnish the court information and assistance whenever required upon the request of the court and from time to time to advise and recommend to the court any changes or modifications of the order made in the case of a probationer as may be for the best interests of such person.

The salaries of the adult probation officer, assistant and deputies herein provided shall be paid out of the treasury of the county or city and county in which they are appointed in the same manner as the salaries of other county officers. The said adult probation officer, assistant and deputies shall be allowed such necessary incidental expenses incurred in the performance of their duties as required by any law of the State of California as may be authorized by a judge designated for the hearing and disposition of criminal cases and proceedings, or by the judge of a department to which criminal actions and proceedings are assigned, and the same shall be a charge upon the county and said expenses shall be paid out of the county treasury upon the written order of said judge, directing the county auditor to deliver his warrant upon the treasurer for the specified amount of such expenses. The adult probation officer shall keep a list of expenses and file a copy monthly with the board of supervisors.

In any city and county and in said counties having a population of more than three hundred thousand and not operating under a freeholder's charter, the adult probation officer, assistant and deputies hereinbefore provided shall be nominated by the adult probation board and shall be appointed by a majority vote of the judges presiding in the departments designated for the hearing and disposition of criminal cases. The term of office of the adult probation officer, assistant and deputies herein provided for shall be two years from the date of their appointment. The said officers may at any time be removed by a vote of a majority of the judges presiding in the departments designated for the hearing and disposition of criminal cases and proceedings for good cause shown and on the filing of written charges by the said judge or judges with the adult probation officer.

Each adult probation officer, assistant and deputy shall give a bond in the sum of not more than two thousand dollars to be fixed and approved by the judges of the superior court presiding in the departments designated for the hearing and disposition of criminal cases, conditioned for the faithful discharge of the duties of said office. If said bonds are furnished by a surety company licensed to transact business in the State of California, the premium thereon shall be paid out of the county treasury.

The adult probation officer may appoint as many additional deputies as he may desire; provided, however, that such deputies shall not have authority to act until their appointment shall be approved by a majority vote of the adult probation board and by a majority vote of the judges presiding in departments designated for the hearing and disposition of criminal cases. The term of office of such deputies shall expire with the term of the adult probation officer making such appointment, but the adult probation officer may at any time in his discretion revoke and terminate such appointment. Such deputies, except as herein provided, shall serve without compensation. Board of supervisors of cities and counties and of counties having a population of more than three hundred thousand and not operating under a freeholder's charter, shall provide and maintain at the expense of such county or city and county in a location in the vicinity of the county jail suitable offices and quarters for the adult probation officer. Nothing contained in this subdivision shall apply to the offenses defined by section 21 of the said juvenile court law and by section 270 of the Penal Code.

(h) Whenever any person is released upon probation under the provisions of this act, the case may be transferred to any court of the same rank in any other county, or city, and county, of this State in which such person resides, or to which such person may remove, and such court shall thereupon commit such person to the care and custody of the probation officer of the county, or city and county to which such person has been transferred; such court shall thereafter have entire jurisdiction over such case, with like power to make transfer whenever to such court such transfer may seem proper.

(i) At the time of the plea or verdict of guilty of any crime of any person over eighteen years of age, the probation officer of the county of the jurisdiction of said crime shall, when so directed by the court, inquire into the antecedents, character, history, family environment, and offense of such person, and must report the same to the court, and file his report in writing in the records of said court. His report shall contain his recommendation for or against the release of such person on probation. If any such person shall be released on probation and committed to the care of the probation officer such officer shall keep a complete and accurate record in suitable books or other form in writing, of the history of the case in court, and of the name of the probation officer, and his acts in connection with said case; also the age, sex, nativity, residence, education, habits of temperance, whether married or single, and the conduct, employment and occupation, and parents' occupation, and condition of such person so committed to his care during the term of such probation and the result of such probation. Such record of such probation officer shall be and constitute a part of the records of the court, and shall at all times be open to the inspection of the court, or of any person appointed by the court for that purpose, as well as of all magistrates, and the chief of police, or other head of the police, unless otherwise ordered by the court. Said books of record shall be furnished for the use of said probation officer of said county, and shall be paid for out of the county treasury.

ASSEMBLY CHAMBER, SACRAMENTO, April 28, 1927.

MR. PRESIDENT: I am directed to inform your honorable body that the Assembly on this day adopted Assembly Joint Resolution No. 16—Relative to the cooperation between the United States and the State of California concerning conservation and development of water projects;

Also: Assembly Joint Resolution No. 17—Relative to federal taxation of community property in California.

ARTHUR A. O'HINIMUS, Chief Clerk.

By C. W. BOOTH, Assistant Clerk.

CONSIDERATION OF ASSEMBLY JOINT RESOLUTION NUMBER SEVENTEEN.

ASSEMBLY JOINT RESOLUTION No. 17.

Relative to federal taxation of community property in California.

WHEREAS, The community system of property prevails in the State of California; and

WHEREAS, In the other community property states the husband and wife are still and for a long time have been permitted by the treasury department, to return one-half of the community property income each for purposes of federal income taxes; and

WHEREAS, In the other community property states, only one-half of the community property passing to the wife on the death of her husband is, and for a long time has been subjected by the treasury department to the federal estate tax; and

WHEREAS, The treasury department has only permitted the husband and wife in California, during the limited period of two months from March 27, 1924, to May 27, 1924, to return community income for purposes of federal income taxes as heretofore and still permitted in the other community property states, and is now questioning the legal correctness of the divided returns of California taxpayers filed in that limited period; and

WHEREAS, The United States District Court for the Northern District of California in Blum versus Wardell (270 Fed. 309) held that in California only one-half of the community property passing to the wife on the death of her husband is subject to the federal estate tax; and

WHEREAS, This decision was approved by the United States Circuit Court of Appeals for the Ninth Circuit (276 Fed. 226) and certiorari therein was denied by the United States Supreme Court (258 U. S. 617); and

WHEREAS, The treasury department ignores the effect of these decisions in the case of Blum versus Wardell and claims the right to subject to a federal estate tax the whole of the community property so passing to the wife in California, and is opening old cases heretofore settled for the purpose of claiming the larger tax on the whole community property; and

WHEREAS, The substantive rights of the husband and wife in community property in California are so similar in fact to the substantive rights of husband and wife in community property in the other community property states that, in the opinion of the people of the State of California there is no reasonable basis for distinguishing California from the other community property states in matters of federal taxation; and

WHEREAS, The Legislature of the State of California in its various enactments upon the subject of community property has consistently recognized that the wife in California during the continuance of the marriage relation has an interest in community property much more definite and certain than the expectancy of an heir, as evidenced by the provisions of section 161 and 682 of the Civil Code as adopted in 1872 and by the provisions of section 161a which were added to the Civil Code at this legislative session; and

WHEREAS, The Supreme Court of the State of California in the recent decision in Stewart versus Stewart (240 Pac. 197) recognized that the interest of the wife in community property in California during the continuance of the marriage relation was a much more definite and present interest than that of an ordinary heir; and

WHEREAS, By the phrasing of section 1212 of the revenue act of 1926 taxpayers in the other community property states who filed divided income returns were confirmed in all the privileges and benefits thereof as to income for any period before January 1, 1925, and by virtue of the position of the treasury department like privileges and benefits have been and will be denied to California taxpayers; and

WHEREAS, The people of the State of California are gravely concerned with the invidious distinction of California in these matters; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly and the Senate of California, jointly, That we respectfully urge upon the Congress of the United States an early and careful consideration of the palpable injustice to California taxpayers in the matter of federal taxation; and such an amendment of the revenue acts as will put the California taxpayers as to past and future federal taxes in a position of equal security with the taxpayers in the other community property states; and that we also respectfully request of the Congress in this behalf, such remedial legislation as will indemnify California taxpayers for any federal taxes heretofore collected from them on any other basis than that which has been applied in the other community property states; and be it further

Resolved, That certified copies of the text of this joint resolution be communicated by the Governor of the State of California to the President of the United States, the Secretary of the Treasury of the United States, the President of the Senate of the United States, the Speaker of the House of Representatives of the United States and to each member of the Congress representing the State of California therein.

Resolution read.
